The SEMI-WEEKLY OBSERVER will hereafter be on sale by the news-dealers coming in and going out of Fayetteville.

For Arkansas.

Evangelist Fife will leave here for Hot Springs, Ark., in the near future, to conduct a thirty days' meeting. In the meantime, he will visit New Berne, Raleigh and other cities. God be with him.

Very Fine.

Mr. Alex. McNeill had in town this morning a load of sweet potatoes which would have done for exhibition at the fair in a lump. We never saw more magnificent tubers.

Pleasant Hop.

A dance complimentary to Miss Nettie E. Robinson, of Pensacola, Fla., was given at Buieville last evening, much enjoyed until after midnight by the young ladies and gentlemen present.

Cape Fear River Appropriation Recommended.

In his annual estimate for appropriations for continuing work on the principal improvements, Gen. Casey, Chief of Engineers, recommends for the Cape Fear river $310,000.

Soiree.

About forty pupils have enrolled themselves in Prof. Antonio Bellezza's dancing classes, and the first soiree of the season will be held in Williams Hall to-night, to which pleasant entertainment the ladies and gentlemen of the community are cordially invited.

Enjoying a Prosperous Career.

Messrs. Young Bros.' Clothing Factory is enjoying a genuine "boom," and the number of employes and employees has increased from forty odd to eighty odd. Mr. Young, if he has got a youthful name, is a live man, and is conducting a live business.

Humors of the Mail.

A letter passed through the Fayetteville postoffice the other day, bearing the following poetic inscription:

Oh, bear me away at a rapid rate,
To Johnston county, Carolina State;
There at rest let me be till Geo. V. Lee
Calls for me.

Excellent Wares.

The goods of the Fayetteville Canning Factory are deservedly meeting with encomium from all quarters. Their fruits and vegetables are pronounced firstrate by housekeepers, and Mr. N. H. Smith has shown us some beautifully put up pie and standard peaches, of which the company has several hundred cases on hand.

The Story of Our Country.

Miss J. Anna McCall is now visiting our citizens in the interests of a book of which she is the agent:—"The Story of America," by Elia W. Peattie, and issued by the R. S. King Publishing Company. It is needless to comment on the interesting character of the book—that goes without saying; but the typographic make-up is artistic and elegant, the print clear and the engravings beautiful. We commend Miss McCall to the good graces of the people.

Centennial Subscriptions.

We are requested by Secretary H. I. McDuffie to state that all subscriptions to the Centennial fund will be needed by November 1st; and, as many subscribers will find it more convenient to pay their subscriptions by installments, he will gladly receipt for any amount paid him, whether on the street or elsewhere, as he carries his receipt book with him all the time for that purpose. Subscribers who have not been called on for an installment will please hand in as much as they can spare at once. Don't wait to be called on. Money is needed now!

Reward Increased.

Governor Fowle has increased the reward offered for Steve Jacobs, of Robeson, from $200 to $600. Many believe Jacobs to be in hiding in the swamps near the stamping ground of the celebrated Henry Berry Lowery and his gang.

Fayetteville Presbytery.

Rev. T. P. Barclay informs us that Fayetteville Presbytery adjourned at Synod, to meet in this city on Wednesday, Nov. 20th, to devise ways and means to provide for the counties of Chatham and Randolph, transferred to it by Synod from Orange Presbytery.

The Time Fixed.

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Maj. Finger, has set apart November 4th for the convention of the Cumberland County Institute, to be conducted by Prof. Alderman. There is no abatement of the universal opposition to the Institute being held here while the Graded School is going on, as it entails considerable loss to not only four or five hundred children in Fayetteville, but to the children all over the county.

The Robeson county Institute convenes on the 11th.

How Many Can You Accommodate?

We have repeatedly urged upon the people of Fayetteville the importance and necessity of their making some provision for feeding and lodging at their homes the visitors to the Centennial, and as yet very few have reported to Mr. McDuffie, chairman of the Committee on Intelligence and Registration. Every house in town must be opened for the reception of visitors; and the committee desire to know at once how many persons each family can accommodate to meals, or lodging, or both, and the rate of charges per day and meal. The first reporting will be the first supplied after the hotels are filled. Please report without further delay.

Fire.

Yesterday afternoon a fire took place at McNeill's & Co's. cotton gin on Anderson street from a cause by no means uncommon in such establishments, but rather singular, notwithstanding. The lever connected with the press emitted sparks from a sudden blow received, and these set fire to cotton near by, and in an instant three or four bales were in a blaze. The force-pump belonging to the mills was set to work, the Chicora steam fire engine was promptly on the spot, the smouldering cotton was rolled into the creek, and in a few minutes the fire was over, comparatively little damage having been done. Messrs. McNeill & Co. were fully insured.

Hurrah for Cabarrus!

We have recently read a letter to a chairman of one of the Centennial committees from Col. Paul B. Means, a prominent citizen of Cabarrus county, manifesting a great interest in the Fayetteville Centennial, and pledging his best efforts to promote it in every possible way, while our esteemed contemporary, the Concord Standard, has the following:

On the 21st day of next month will be celebrated at Fayetteville, N. C., the 100th anniversary of the adoption by our State of the Constitution of the United States. It will be an occasion in which every person in Cabarrus should feel an interest; and every man, woman and child in Cabarrus who can be in Fayetteville on November 21st, 1889, should be there. At Fayetteville the law was enacted in 1792 which established our county. For more than half a century we were connected with Fayetteville by plank-road, and that city was the market of our fathers. To Fayetteville we, as a county, owe more than to any other city in North Carolina by virtue of the intercourse between it and our fathers. Let us, then, turn our hearts to this city, so dear to our ancestors, from now until the great celebration of November 21st, 1889, is over. And let each and all of us determine to be in Fayetteville on that day, and do all we can to make the occasion the grandest in North Carolina's history.

Railroad Meeting Next Saturday.

The meeting here to-morrow ought to determine how soon work will commence on the new railroad between Fayetteville and Aberdeen. The matter is of vital concern to the people of Fayetteville, and more especially to the people living along and contiguous to the proposed line. To say the least of it, they should be in the proposed meeting, and give the project all the encouragement possible by their presence and otherwise.

Let us move in one unbroken column together—town and country people alike—and the result need not be feared. Capt. D. G. McDuffie, the chief engineer, will be on hand, ready to answer any and all questions concerning the route, cost of grading, equipping, etc., any part of the entire line.

We have already heard of quite a number who anticipate attending the meeting, and we hope that they will influence their neighbors and others to attend, hear the discussions, and participate in the exercises of the day generally.

Fire at the River.

This morning a fire took place on a steamboat wharf at the river by which 15 casks of spirits of turpentine and 56 barrels of rosin were consumed. The flames spread very rapidly over the whole wharf, and the Steamer Cape Fear was in such danger that she was pushed hurriedly out into the stream. The loss was from $350 $400. We have understood that the fire was caused by the accidental touching of a match to the spirits of turpentine.

THE FAYETTEVILLE CENTENNIAL.

Fireworks and Military—The United States Marine Band—Flags, Decorations and the Ball.

An enthusiastic and well-attended meeting of the Centennial committees took place in the Town Hall yesterday afternoon, Capt. A. B. Williams, President of the Association, in the chair.

Capt. Jno. H. Robinson, from the Committee on Military, reported that acceptances of the invitations sent to the companies of the State Guard were being received, and that the military schools had been invited, including the Virginia Military Institute. The camp will be conveniently located on Gillespie street, next to the colored Normal School building, and ample arrangements for water, etc., will be made.

Mr. G. A. Thomson, from the Committee on Advertising, reported everything necessary in the hands of the printers, and that decorators would be here in due time to make contracts for the decoration of residences, stores and public buildings.

Hon. W. J. Green announced that Senator Ransom, who had gone to Washington to procure these favors for us, had writen to the effect that he had the promise of the Secretaries of War and the Navy to grant us the services of the United States Marine Band, with 108 musical instruments, during the Centennial, and the use of as many flags as we wanted.

Capt. W. E. Kyle stated that he was authorized by Col. Julius A. Gray, President of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley R. R., to say that his private car had been thoroughly overhauled, and was at the service of the Centennial Association for the conveyance of ex-President Davis to this city in November. A vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to Col. Gray for this courtesy.

In the absence of Mr. Z. W. Whitehead, Mr. H. L. Cook acted as secretary of the meeting.

The Cumberland Fair.

Cumberland has long enjoyed the enviable distinction of holding the best county fair in the State, and this year our people should make special efforts to sustain the prestige of past successes. Our exhibition will come under the eyes of visitors from all parts of the country, and it is a pardonable pride on our part to wish to stand well with our neighbors and fellow-citizens. This desirable result is to be accomplished mainly by the farmers—the products of whose farms, orchards and gardens will attest the manifold advantages of our goodly land—and the ladies, whosewifely skill and taste shall charmingly tell the story of happy and thrifty homes.

"J. P. M.," a valued friend and subscriber of the OBSERVER, and one of the best farmers in the county, writes to us the following sensible views as to the importance of unusual exertions on the part of all classes of our people to render the approaching fair meritorious and attractive:

Our next fair will be visited by thousands of strangers, who at that time will attend our Centennial Celebration. It therefore devolves upon our citizens, the farmers especially, to exert themselves to make it a fair that will not only be highly creditable to themselves but satisfactory to our numerous visitors.

The fair will also mark an important era in the history of agricultural progress for the past hundred years. Let it prove that during this long period of time, while all other industries have advanced with rapid strides, the farmers have kept well abreast of the times.

Within a radius of thirty miles of Fayetteville there are perhaps 12,000 farmers: now, if one out of every twelve of them would form a ring, and send but one article to the fair, there would be an aggregate of 1,000 entries in Farmers' Hall—a larger number than ever before entered.

At one of our previous fairs a farmer and his daughters entered 40 articles for exhibition, receiving therefor $72.00 in premiums. This example should encourage all other farmers to "go and do likewise."

All classes should feel an interest in building up the farms, because when they fail all other interests suffer with them.

Weekly Cotton Report.

The following is the weekly report of the Fayetteville Cotton Market, taken from the office of the Fayetteville Cotton Exchange, for the week ending Oct. 17th:

	BALES.
Receipts for the week	538

REMARKS.

The tone of the market to-day was rather dull.

Your Attention, Please.

Mr. H. McD. Robinson advertises the County Institute in another column. Read his important notice, teachers.

Messrs. Rose & Leak are advertising their second great fall and winter stock—you will there find beautiful goods.

Mr. Leach, of the Bellevue Hotel, High Point, N. C., wants a housekeeper.

"A Thing of Beauty is a Joy Forever"—and you will find it right in Tillinghast's Crockery Store.

"Correct Principles" at Rose & Leak's are evidenced by the big trade of that establishment.

Opportunities for great bargains are offered at Rowland, on the Wilson & Florence R. R.

Wood and coal-burners would do well to read the advertisement of McMillan Bros.

Let the "Old North State" turn out "en masse" here at the Centennial Celebration in November, and give to that living patriot, soldier and statesman, Ex-President Davis such a royal welcome as the hero of the 19th Century richly deserves!

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. C. P. Vanstory, of Greensboro, visited Fayetteville this week.

Mrs. J. C. Jackson, of Prosperity, Moore county, is visiting relatives and friends in the city.

The genial and clever Charley Glover has accepted a position with Messrs. Novitzky & Bro.'s the Fayetteville Clothiers.

Mrs. A. G. Robertson, of Egypt, N. C., who visiting her sister, Mrs. W. G. Hall, on Hay street, is warmly welcomed by her many friends in this city.

Mr. W. F. Leak, of the well-known firm of Rose & Leak, is on North buying goods to supply the fall and winter trade of that large wholesale and retail house.

Maj. W. H. Draughon and lady have returned from Durham, whither they went to hear Sam Jones. The Major says Sam is a "whole circus" within himself, and that several thousand people heard Mr. Jones the same time he attended.

Capt. A. H. Slocumb and lady, Messrs. Lilly Love, John G. Shaw, Esq., D. A. McDonald, A. S. Wightman, Joe Underwood, George O'Hanlon, Judge McRae, Mr. J. D. McNeill and lady, A. J. Pemberton, were among those who attended the State Fair at Raleigh yesterday. H. L. Cook, Esq., represented Fayetteville on the marshal's staff.

Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Grinnan, who have been spending some time with the relatives of the former at Madison Mills, Va., will arrive here this afternoon via the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway. We learn that Mr. Grinnan will preach in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday, leaving here on the Monday following.

New Business.

Mr. D. H. Bell, of the Cumberland House, has opened an attractive and well-stocked grocery store on Person street, just east of the Racket Store.

MARRIED.

DONNELL—TYSOR—On the morning of the 16th inst., at the residence of Capt. M. P. Muse, on West Rowan Street, by Rev. T. P. Barclay, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this city, CAPT. W. C. DONNELL, of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, to Miss IRENE E. TYSOR, of Chatham County.

DIED.

WARDEN—Yesterday evening, at 6:30 o'clock, at her residence on Ramsey street, MISS ANN WARDEN, aged 72 years.

The funeral services take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Presbyterian Church, of which the deceased was a devout member. Our heartfelt sympathies are tendered to the bereaved brother and other relatives.

INSTITUTE!

To the White Teachers and Committees in Cumberland County:

Under the provisions of Chapter 200, Laws of 1889, (School Law, page 50) and by the appointment of the State Board of Education, an INSTITUTE will be held in Fayetteville, N. C., beginning on MONDAY, THE FOURTH DAY OF NOVEMBER, and continuing one week, to be conducted by Prof. E. A. Alderman, assisted by the County Superintendent.

Section 4 of the Act is as follows: "It shall be the duty of all white public school teachers of the County in which the Institute is held to attend continuously the sessions of said Institute, and on failure so to do, without satisfactory reasons, they shall not be certified as teachers for the ensuing year; and in case an Institute is held while the schools are in session in any county, they shall be suspended during the session of the Institute."

The white teachers of Cumberland County and the committees of the white schools are hereby notified that the law will be strictly enforced. During the session of the Institute there will be a written examination of applicants for first and second grade certificates, and the certificates given at this examination will be signed by the Instructor and the County Superintendent, and will be good for three years.

On Friday, the eighth day of November, at 11 o'clock A. M., Prof Alderman will deliver an address on the Public School Law and the subject of Public Education. All the committeemen of the county, the friends of education and the public generally are invited to attend and hear this address. The hall where the Institute will be held, and all other necessary details will be announced hereafter.

It is hoped that the teachers, the committees and all friends of education in the county will do all in their power to make the Institute a grand success. During the session of the Institute we will always welcome such teachers from adjoining counties as may feel inclined to attend.

Done by order of the County Board of Education

H. McD. ROBINSON, Co. Sup't and Secretary of Board of Education.

THE OBSERVER.

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., OCTOBER 18, 1889.

NEWS AND COMMENT.

HERE'S to the health of the Indianapolis Democrats!

SOUTHWARD the Star of the Empire takes her course.

EX-SENATOR BRUCE, of Mississippi, advises the negro "to scatter."

THE first spike has been driven on the W. E. C. & O. R. R. at Wilmington.

THE Pan-American Congress will visit the South later on in the season.

IT is said that Mrs. STONEWALL JACKSON is writing her husband's biography.

THE Star very properly puts ALBION W. TOURGEE down as the champion "literary liar" of the 19th century.

REPUBLICANS have about concluded to "throw up the sponge" in Ohio; MURAT HALSTEAD has done the work.

THE Montana election still hangs fire, and will have to be decided by the courts. The Democrats are confident of securing a decision in their favor, however.

WANTED:—BILL ROBINSON'S private opinion of the appointment of CHARLEY COOK, of Warrenton, for District Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina.

LANGSTON, the colored orator of Virginia, has shaken the dust of the Old Dominion State and Mahonism from his feet, because he was held aloof on account of the "cud of his hair."

DANVILLE, VA., has just put another feather in her cap by voting a subscription of $150,000 towards the extension of the Atlantic & Danville Railroad to the coal-fields of southwest Virginia.

ESTIMATING that the Republicans don't steal the entire State of Montana, votes and all, the next Congress will stand: Senate, 45 Republicans and 39 Democrats; House, 169 Republicans and 161 Democrats.

Let North Carolinians show their undying love for that living monument to Southern valor and Constitutional liberty, Jefferson Davis, by giving him such a welcome at the Centennial Celebration here November 20th, 21st and 22nd, as will call forth the praise and admiration of the present and generations yet unborn!

DR. GRISSOM has evidently got "blood in his eyes" for somebody. He met the editor of the State Chronicle on the streets in Raleigh a few days since, and paid his respects to him in "plain English." The High Point Enterprise says he was in that town a few days since, and it was supposed that "his business was to find Dr. SION ROGERS. It is thought that when these two gentlemen come together there will be a serious affray. Not finding ROGERS, GRISSOM returned to Raleigh."

WANTED—A boy 10 or 12 years old who can read, and who will work for nothing and board himself from now till January. A good chance to learn the printers' trade. —Scotland Neck Democrat.

In old days boys were taken that way; in fact, sometimes printers were paid to take them, and frequently they were bound to them, but in these days boys become editors before they are printers, and a month's service in a printing office graduates them, though in other days it required four years of careful training. The Democrat is rather off its horns in stating printing a trade; it is the finest of the fine arts—politics may be a trade, but printing is not.—Reidsville Review.

Be it one of the "finest of the fine arts," trade or profession, the Review is correct when it says in these days "boys become editors before they are printers." Hence so many patent outside cross-roads sheets, which have contributed so much to lower the standard of North Carolina journalism in the estimation of the general public. Moreover, we are thus enabled to account for the absence of such influential and leading journals as the old Wilmington Journal, Raleigh Standard and Sentinel, Greensboro Patriot, FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER of ante-bellum days and such other moulders of public opinion. While a majority of the editors in the State are doing well in their work, there are nevertheless many who have sadly missed their calling.

THE people of this country have not yet recovered from the callousness as to human life begotten of the late war. Fearful railway and steamboat accidents; holocausts of victims from huge piles of burning buildings; streams raging in resistless torrents, and bearing with their turbid floods the mangled bodies of countless victims—are in this age not even the wonder of nine days. A few head-lines in the big dailies, generous subscriptions from a rich and warm-hearted people, and the dead are put away, while the mourners bury their grief in the privacy of darkened homes of which the world knows and cares nothing. But there is a line beyond which even the typical careless American will not go—and the dangers attending the manipulation of the electric wires in the great cities are just beyond that line. The recent fearful catastrophes in New York have aroused the people of that city to such a manifestation of determined purpose that the electric over-ground wire must go, and the companies must make some change by which this constant menace to human life is done away with. In the meantime, the poor, the laborer and the dirty newsboy stop and put their pennies into the charity box for the helpless family of the lineman Feeks, who lost his life in New York city the other day, and the great, powerful electric light companies are fighting in the courts to retain their privilege of killing people! What a world! what a world!

LATEST NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD.

The October term of U. S. Supreme Court began last Monday, with thirteen hundred and twenty-five cases on the docket. Cross and White against the State of North Carolina comes among the first. ——Total receipts of cotton at all the ports since September 1st, 983,109 bales. ——The lower house of the Mexican Congress has passed, with but one dissenting vote, a bill to grant concession to two colored men of Texas to colonize lands with negroes from Texas and other American States. ——Evangelist Pearson's meetings at Rock Hill, S. C., last week resulted in the conversion of 500 souls and the reclamation of 500 backsliders. ——Wm. K. Thomas has been appointed postmaster at Jackson Springs, N. C. ——The State Farmers' Alliance is again greatly stirred up in regard to the jute-bagging matter. Information has been received of a reliable nature that the jute combine has been renewed upon a more extensive scale than formerly. ——The survey has begun on the line of the Burgaw & Onslow Railway. ——Panly Pankey, a young negro man, has been convicted at Albemarle of the murder of Cadmus Leak, and sentenced to be hanged November 22nd. He has appealed to the Supreme Court. —A letter from New York states that there is much improvement in the health of Bishop Theodore B. Lyman, and that he can in four days leave his room. —— Lumberton has two Y. M. C. Associations. —— The Emperor William has ordered every branch of the German cavalry to be armed with the lance as the chief weapon, though neither the sword nor the carbine is to be discarded. ——To permit the men employed in the great Carnegie works at Braddocks to attend the funeral of their late superintendent, Captain Jones, involved an expense for the company of $50,000. ——Hugo Zieman, the steward of the White House, has decided to leave, and will go back to his old place in the Hotel Richelieu, Chicago. He was paid $3,000 a year in Chicago, but received only $1,800 at Washington. —— The Congregationalists have 475,000 communicants in the United States. They are exceeded in numbers only by the Roman Catholic, Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians and Disciples. ——John Burns, the English Socialistic leader who managed the great strike of the London dockmen, is a relative of the late Robert Burns. In appearance he resembles the dead poet so strongly as to cause general comment. ——At Rutherfordton, N. C., Walter Fite, the five year old son of Walter L. Fite, fell into a boiler of hot sorghum on the 15th inst. and was scalded to death. ——At Lexington, N. C., October 14, Robert Berrier was arraigned for preliminary trial His counsel waived an examination and sent the prisoner to jail. A large crowd of citizens from the neighborhood of Mrs. Walser, the woman whom Berrier shot, remained at the jail during the entire evening. At seven o'clock a crowd of masked men went to the jail, broke down the front door, and rather than have further damage done to the jail the Sheriff gave up the keys. The prisoner was in the hands of a furious mob, and paid the penalty of his crime. ——A very remarkable case is reported from Montgomery county. For some weeks Henry Sassen and his wife have both been suffering very much. They are an old couple, both having celebrated their seventieth birthday. The old man was suffering with heart-disease and his wife with typhoid fever. Sunday evening Mr. Sassen died, and in exactly two hours his wife was a corpse also. They were buried subsequently in a double coffin. ——The trial of Edward Brown, charged with the murder of editor R. J. Page, which has been in progress at Marion, ended in the acquittal of Brown. The case was given to the jury, and they were locked up all one night in consultation. The verdict of "Not Guilty" was brought in, and Brown was at once set at liberty. ——It is officially announced that the condition of the King of Portugal is critical. His whole body is paralyzed. The last sacrament has been administered. ——The semi-official Novoe Vremya in an inspired article affirms the friendship of Russia for Germany, and says Russia relies upon Prince Bismarck to maintain peace. ——A special from Atlanta, Ga., says: The Alliance men have taken possession of the town of Dothen, Ala., to resist the license-tax. A riot, in which two leading men have been killed, is in progress. Two town officers were mortally wounded, and a dozen others seriously hurt. ——Engineer John Howard, Frank Raisor and Edward Heinlien were instantly killed on the 14th at Bucyrus, Ohio, by the bursting of a boiler at Heinlien's sorghum-mills. The explosion was caused by cold water being pumped into the boiler of the engine through a mistake of the engineer. ——A special from Wichita, Kan., says: It became known yesterday that T. T. Giblin, of Pratt, fifty miles west of this place, who was connected with the Loan and Investing Company, of Giblin, Brownell & Co., had absconded. He is believed to have taken $10,000 with him. At the time of his absconding he was judge of the police court. ——The steamship Italia, from Hamburg, was towed into New York on the 15th with a broken shaft. ——The New York grand jury is patiently awaiting the hunt for the electric-wire that killed Lineman Feeks. ——An earthquake was experienced in Venice on the 15th. Several houses in a village near there were destroyed. ——Atlanta has been selected as the place by the Farmers' Alliance of Georgia to build an exchange for their products. —— Stevens, who was sent to Africa by the New York World, has arrived at Zanzibar. He has not found any trace of Stanley. ——Wm. H. Stowe, quartermaster of Admiral Foote Post, Grand Army of the Republic, is said to be short in his accounts $40,000. ——Dispatches from Samoa report that a meeting was held there to elect a King, and Mataafa was selected, with Malietoa as Vice-King. ——Dispatches from Crete say that Chakier Pasha is preparing to attack Sphakia from four different directions. Skirmishes between the Turks and Cretans continue. ——The sudden determination of the Brush and United States electric-light companies to shut off their city circuits plunged a large portion of New York in darkness. ——A terrific gale has raged along the Massachusetts coast At Vineyard Haven several vessels have been washed ashore. At Nantucket one body has been washed ashore, and two vessels are reported to have been in collision. ——A harmonious conference between representatives of the American Federation of Labor and Knights of Labor took place in Philadelphia on the 15th. A WIFE TO HER HUSBAND.

One of us, dear—
But one—
Will sit by a bed with a marvelous fear,
And clasp a hand,
Growing cold as it feels for the spirit-land—
Darling, which one?

One of us, dear—
But one—
Will stand by the other's coffin bier,
And look and weep,
While those marble lips strange silence keep;
Darling, which one?

One of us, dear—
But one—
By an open grave will drop a tear,
And homeward go,
The anguish of an unshared grief to know—
Darling, which one?

One of us, darling, it must be;
It may be you will slip from me,
Or, perhaps my life may first be done—
Which one?

Gentle Words at Home.

Exchange.]

What trifles make or mar the happiness of home! Mr. Jones comes home to dinner, tired and perhaps a little cross. The dinner is not quite ready, the meat is a little overdone or not quite done enough, and Mr. Jones thinks he does well to be angry. It is trying, to be sure; and Mrs. Jones, if she is a loving wife, will do her very utmost to prevent such a contingency; but it may be she has had the charge of several children, with an inefficient servant in the kitchen, and has really done her best. "I wonder why I can't have my dinner in comfort like Tom Smith," says Mr. Jones. Now, Tom Smith has just twice his income, and Mrs. Smith is able to keep thoroughly efficient servants, besides which she has no children. All this Mr. Jones forgets in his anger, but not so his wife. It make the question doubly galling to her, and she replies quickly: "I wonder why I can't have as much housekeeper's money as Mrs. Smith." This turning the tables on Mr. Jones is very consoling at the time, but is another of the trifles that destroy the peace of home. A soft answer, a conciliatory word, would have stopped the quarrel at the beginning, but now retorts fly back and forth, and an atmosphere of irritation and anger pervades the household for the remainder of the day—aye, for the remainder of life—for each family jar paves the way for another, unless some mighty reforming force, some new birth of love and holiness, comes in. The children catch the tone of their parents and bicker among themselves, and that house ceases to be a home except in name. Only where love reigns in every heart, where slights are neither given nor imagined, where no bitter, cutting word is ever spoken, can there be a happy, an ideal home.

Pine Bark as a Diet.

Popular Science Monthly.]

One article of subsistence sometimes employed by the Indians is only resorted to when they are driven to great straits by hunger. Around many of the watering-places in the pine forests of Oregon and California the trees of pinus ponderosa may be seen stripped of their bark for a space of three or four feet near the base of the trunk. This has been accomplished by cutting with a hatchet a line around the tree as high as one could conveniently reach, and still another lower down, so that the bark, severed above and below, could be removed in strips. At certain seasons of the year a mucilaginous film separates the bark from the wood of the trunk. Part of this film adheres to each surface, and may be scraped off. The resulting mixture of mucilage cells and half-formed wood is nutritious and not unpalatable, so that, as a last resort, it may be used as a defense against starvation. The frequency with which signs of its having been resorted to are met with is a striking indication of the uncertainties and irregularities of the supply department among savages.

Charles Dickens as an Editor.

Dickens is most thought of as a novelist, but his career as editor, if less dwelt upon, was hardly less distinguished in his service, first to Household Words and then to All The Year Round. Except during his brief connection with the Daily News, he was never the editor of a daily journal, but in the record, which his son furnishes in the English Illustrated Magazine, of his methods of editing a weekly journal and of dealing with his contributors, it is found that Dickens set up the highest standard possible, and brought all of his indomitable energy and capacity for taking pains into the service of the weekly magazine. He was the model editor in his chosen field, exacting but considerate, and if his correspondence with all contributors was as kindly as it was with the American lady whose contributions he took in hand and commented on, his relations to his co-laborers must have been choice illustrations of his kindness of heart and of the conscientious discharge of his relations to others.

A New Industry in the South

Lexington Dispatch.]

Mr. W. A. Watson was at home the first of the week. In conversation with the editor of the Dispatch, he said that his firm —Watson & Cecil—had taken a contract to erect a bleachery at Concord for the Odells, who are among the largest cotton manufacturing firms in the State, having extensive factories at Concord, and being interested in factories at Durham, Salisbury and other places. The bleachery is to be a two story brick building, 62x124 feet. It will be the first building erected for the purpose in the South, and will doubtless be the beginning of an extensive addition to the cotton manufacturing interests of the State. Work on the bleachery is to begin at once, and the building is to be finished this fall.

How to Succeed.

Charlotte Democrat.]

What makes success? The Scientific American answers this question. It says: "Ninety-nine per cent. of ambition to try, and one per cent. of talent, will insure success in whatever we undertake.

Spare our loved ones. Hear the pleading
That goes up from aching hearts;
But grim death, our plea unheeding,
Pierces with his fatal dart
Those who with us fain would tarry,
Those we long so much to keep,
And ere long their forms we carry
To the grave so dark and deep.

Pleading with death avails nothing. We must do something to ward off the dart he aims at those we love. We must protect them from him. When the hacking cough, the hectic flush, or a pain in the side or chest gives indication of a consumptive tendency, act promptly. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This remedy allays the inflammation of the delicate lung-tissues. It heals the irritated parts. It strengthens the blood and tones up the debilitated system, and in this way death can be forced to relinquish his hold upon our friend. It is guaranteed to cure, if taken in time and given a fair trial, or money paid for it will be refunded.

The World Moves!

Get Up and Ride!!

When the Big Guns in the Dry Goods trade, who are supposed to buy their goods on long time, insist on selling everything to everybody for strict cash, we think it is time for us heathen, who have to pay cash and cash only for our goods before we can ever see them, to follow in their illustrious footsteps.

It is a well-known fact that all dealers in Grain are compelled by the commercial law of the times to pay for their supplies before they can get them, however much such dealers may be worth, or however they may be.

We have decided therefore to adopt the same rule in selling that we have to abide by in buying. In our case, this should always have been the rule. The unbusiness-like methods of others being our only excuse for wrong-doing, we trust that all of our patrons will "catch on" to the "new departure," and show their appreciation of our endeavors in the past to please them, by continuing to give us their patronage.

Recollect that we sell you

Meal and Feed

AT THE ACTUAL COST
of the unground material.

We also hold that to endeavor to do a

Hand to Hand Cash Transaction with every purchase is not only impracticable but also unbusiness-like, and we wish it distinctly understood that accounts with parties of a known place of business, that are always promptly paid on presentation without any foolishness, is in our opinion cash.

The Change of the Leaf.

Asheville Citizen.]

The time is coming when the green of the leaf, beautiful, cheering and restful to the eye, will give way to the dazzling, variegated brilliancy of the fall, when the frost King will move about in the stillness of the night, and deftly lay his colors on the landscape, until each mountain side shall be hung with curtains more gorgeous than the famous Gobelin tapestry, and each valley spread with carpets gayer and richer than the looms of Turkey or of Persia can produce. The nimble fingers of the chilly painter shall so slowly and silently wield his brush that its progress cannot be noted; yet it grows, and each morning unfolds a brighter or deeper glow, a richer, more splendid blending or contrast of colors, until, some keen frosty morning, the canvass receives its finishing touches, and the landscape stands revealed in gorgeousness the eye can scarcely comprehend as earthly, and tongue and pen alike want words or thought to even faintly delineate. Nature has crowned her work of the year. With the resurrection of the spring she clothed the new-born season with the tender living green, and decked it with the beauties of the flowers, and gave the added wealth of rich and luscious fruits, and made the summer, the grown maternal summer, the vigorous sister of the spring. Then came the chilling autumn and approaching death of the seasons of life and growth; and over the fading and the dying forms nature throws her gorgeous mantle as token that death is not to be enrobed with gloom, that its features shall not be all repulsive, and that the change in fact is splendid transition from one form of being to another. The autumn's dying splendors are only prelude to the rest of nature in winter, to wake again at the glad voice of spring, clad in new raiment, renewed and recreated.

The change in the autumn leaf going on before the eye we rather wish to ascribe to some subtle, mysterious and kindly work of nature, in sportive or in serious mood, to show the scope and diversity of her powers, or illustrate another phase of creative wisdom and of power. But science comes in to give its cold and heartless explanation. It is but the operation of blind, inflexible chemical law. Chemistry is a wonderful necromancer, but it is also a remorseless disenchanter; and its analysis informs our reason that the process of the change in colors is only obedience to certain very simple laws. It is this: The green matter in the leaf is composed of two colors, red and blue. When the sap ceases to flow, oxidization of the tissues takes place, and under different conditions the green changes to red, or yellow, or purple, or brown, the changes influenced by temperature, drought or moisture, or soil. This is scientifically simple, and the beautiful phenomenon in the eyes of science stands stripped of all its wonders. Yet, in fact, it stands a wonder still; for behind the cold exactness of scientific analysis, remains the fact that it is the work of the Great First Cause, who designed all these subtle agencies to do His will. Man may analyze the agencies. He can go no farther, nor can he set aside the fact that all comes out of deep design, in which profoundest wisdom is blended with benevolent consideration that man my find his present home a place of cheer and pleasure, and through its beauties catch a glimpse of the far-surpassing splendors of his future dwelling. And so we will continue to look on autumn glories, not through the eyes of science, but through those of heartfelt pleasure and of hopeful faith.

Population of Switzerland.

London Globe, Sep. 17th.]

From the general results of the Swiss census of December 1st, 1888, which have already been worked out, it seems that the total population is 2,934,055, against 2,846,102 in 1880. The German speaking element increased from 2,030,792 in 1880 to 2,092,562, which, taking into account the normal growth of the population, was no relative increase, the proportion in both cases being precisely 71.3 per cent. of the whole. The French, on the other hand, increased from 608,007 to 637,940, which was also a relative increase of 51.4 to 51.7 per cent., while the Italian declined actually as well as relatively, the numbers being 261,923 in 1880, and 156,602 in 1888, or 5.7 and 5.3 per cent. respectively.

The decline of the Italians in the cantons of Uri and Schwyz is explained by the return home of a large number of Italian workmen engaged in the St. Gothard railway; but it is not easy to explain why there is a large decrease in the Germans in the cantons of Berne and Neufchatel; while the French have increased in Switzerland it seems to be at the expense of the Germans, and the German element recovers its place at the expense of the Italians.

A Journey Around the World—Number of Miles, &c.

Starting from New York City and making a journey around the world, the traveler would cover 22,672 miles. The distance would be from New York to San Francisco, 3,450 miles; San Francisco to Yokohama, 5,764 miles; Yokohama to Hong Kong, 1,620 miles; Hong Kong to Singapore, 1,150 miles; Singappre to Calcutta, 1,200 miles; Calcutta to Bombay, 1,409 miles; Bombay to Aden, 1,664 miles; Aden to Suez, 1,808 miles; Suez to Alexandria, 250 miles; Alexandria to Marseilles, 300 miles; Marseilles to Paris, 536; Paris to London, 316; London to Liverpool, 205, and Liverpool to New York, 3,009, making the total as given above.

Prevailing Languages.

Electric Magazine.]

Prof. Kirchoff, of Halle, estimates that the language most spoken on the globe, for the last 1,000 years at least, is Chinese, for it is without doubt the only one which is talked by over 400,000,000 of the human race; the next language most in use (but at a very great distance behind Chinese) being Hindustani, spoken by over 100,000,000. Then follow English (spoken by about 100,000,000), German (over 57,000,000) and Spanish (over 47,000,000).

Writing for a Living.

Merchant Traveler.]

"What are you doing now, Gus?" said one young man about town to another.

"Oh, I write for a living."

"On the daily press?"

"No; I write to father about twice a month for a remittance."

A Dish of New P's.

P stands for Pudding, for Peach and for Pear,
And likewise for Poetry and Prose;
The Parrot, the Pigeon that flies in the air,
The Pig with a ring in his nose;
For Paper and Pen, for Printer and Press,
For Physic, and People who sell it;
But when you are sick, to relieve your distress
Take at once Pierce's Purgative Pellet.

Oh, yes, indeed! These are the P's for you, poor, sick man or woman. Nothing like them for keeping the bowels and stomach regulated and in order—tiny, sugar-coated granules, scarcely larger than mustard seeds. They work gently but thoroughly.

Commercial Fertilizers (so-called)—Home Dirt vs. Yankee Dirt.

Brother Farmers:

Prior to the late disastrous fight over the Southern Black Idol, there resided near the old town of Fayetteville, on some of the poor pine lands of Cumberland county, a hard working, economical, honest, truthful old Scotchman. On a certain occasion, a true blue American called to see the good farmer, to partake of his hospitalities for a short time. While doing so, he observed that his host was well fixed up about his residence and farm-houses, and very rightly concluded that his host was a money-making man and well-to-do. While being entertained so hospitably, he made it convenient to say to his host: "I wish to know how it is that you Scotchmen will settle down on our poor lands and make money, while a buckskin will perish to death?" His host replied: "Well, I will tell you; we sell what we should eat, and eat what our dogs ought to eat."

I heard the above incident rehearsed to a good old Scotch school teacher—his only reply was: "I would not like to be Scotchman's dog, would you?"

Farming before the war was profitable, pleasant and respectable, and the only slavery we had was that which was abolished by the late war, which was said to be legal and right; therefore worth shedding blood for. The farmers grew and made on their farms nearly everything necessary for comfort and happiness, so far as their worldly means go—corn, wheat, rye, oats, field-peas, ground-peas, sweet and Irish potatoes—all necessary vegetables in abundance. Cotton, flax and indigo were all successfully grown; the first named (cotton) was for bringing in money, as also partly to clothe the family. All farming was done in blissful ignorance of the now so-called commercial fertilizers. The woods, swamps and branches were resorted to for keeping the lands up. Woods marl was hauled direct from the woods and branches to the fields, and applied in a way for nature to do the balance for the crop; all stables and lots were kept well littered; all cattle were used in a way to add to the fertility of the soil. Farmers then allowed a part of their cleared land to rest every year, feeling that it was the right thing to do for their best interest. They were right. Their wheat, rye and oat fields were not planted in anything for the year after harvest; corn followed cotton; cotton was grown on the rested or stubble land; everything done in an old-fogy common-sense way, but with an eye to the improvement of the soil. Cotton seed were used nearly altogether for corn-growing, and that, too, after being well killed. Experience showed that the acre of cotton seed alone would grow fine corn year after year, but to do without rest to the land was to destroy the fertility.

Cattle, hogs, sheep and horses were all raised on the farms for farm use and for sale. Hog-meat, beef and mutton were enjoyed as fully as was necessary for the benefit of man, while a large quantity of bacon was annually disposed of to pay for sugar, coffee, tea, molasses, salt and iron. Shoes for the family were nearly always made on the farms. There were hatmakers in those days, who manufactured hats of wool and fur. All the farming was carried on independent of merchants' help. No paying 50 to 100 per cent. for white meat, corn and Yankee flour. Now how is it? Will not an honest answer breed disgust for the whole business? True, we have a few farmers here and there all over the country whose farms are self-sustaining. But how is it with the many?

In my next, I will contrast the old issue with the new, and try to throw light on the path of labor, toil and sweat, to the end that farmers may see that we have dirt enough on our farms, without building up railroads and steamboats to bring in Yankee dirt to mix with ours.

An Old-Time Duel.

In the duel between De Witt Clinton and John Swartwout back of Weehawken, in 1802, Clinton hit Swartwout five times, and each time Swartwout demanded another shot. Once he was hit in the arm, then in the leg, then in the finger, and finally somewhere else; but, while struggling on the ground in great pain, he insisted that he should have another chance, though his antagonist was as yet uninjured. In view of such ridiculous persistency, Mr. Clinton finally cast his pistol on the ground and walked off, with the remark that he had no patience with a man who did not know when either his wounded honor or his wounded body was satisfied.

Production of Cashmere Shawls.

It is said that 16,000 looms are kept in constant employment in Cashmere, producing annually about 30,000 shawls. The shawls are woven on rudely-constructed looms, a pair of shawls sometimes occupying three or four men a whole year in weaving. The Cashmere goat, which furnishes the material, is found in Thibet, the hair of it being fine, silky and about eighteen inches long. It takes the fleece of ten goats to manufacture a shawl a yard and a half square.

Napoleon's Prediction.

Richmond State.]

The papers are quoting the assertion of the first Napoleon, that in a hundred years not a cannon would be fired without the consent of the United States. Let it not be forgotton in this connection that the cause of the rejuvenation of this remark is the astounding speed of the new Cruiser Baltimore of the United States Navy, which boat is the work of Cleveland's administration. Secretary Tracy gracefully acknowledged this fact when he telegraphed his congratulations to ex-Secretary Whitney. The Democratic party intends to hustle this government ahead, and make up for the back-setting given trade and invention by the Republican party.

Origin of the Word "Restaurant."

Wilmington Messenger.]

Our friend Hill, of the Centenary, gives the following excellent specimen of classical wit by one of the leading Southern journalists, who, like Hill, is a Methodist:

"By the way, a friend informs us that Grady, of the Constitution, when a student at the University of Virginia, derived the word "restaurant" from the Latin words res and taurus, and his free translation of the derivation was a bully thing!"

NORTH CAROLINA SYNOD.

Rev. T. P. Barclay, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this city, who returned home from the meeting of Synod last Saturday afternoon, delivered no sermon on Sunday, devoting the morning hour to a resume of this year's Synodical work—a discourse so very intertesting that we cannot do better than collate, to the best of our recollection, its most salient points as the OBSERVER'S report of the interesting proceedings of that religious body.

This being his first attendance upon the North Carolina Synod, Mr. Barclay was mainly a looker-on and listener during the deliberations, with a desire to familiarize himself with the line of work, methods, etc., and he was of the opinion that in personnel and ability this Synod will compare favorably with that of any other State in the Union.

An idea seemed to linger in the minds of some members of the body that old Fayetteville Presbytery was asleep; but, when its report came to be read, it was demonstrated in a gratifying manner that it was wide awake and full of vitality. This Presbytery had been assessed $400 for Evangelistic and $1,200 for Presbyterial work, which amount there had been no difficulty in raising, and it might be that its churches would be called on for a further sum during the coming year.

An additional Presbytery had been formed, the change commencing, if the speaker remembered aright, with Vance county, and splitting Orange Presbytery nearly in half. Chatham and Randolph counties were added to this Presbytery, each with but one Presbyterian Church within its borders—and this condition of affairs exists in many sections of the State, which the Synod manifested a determination to change, if thoroughly working up every county in the State can accomplish it.

Home Missions had been made to mean something broader and better than the old theory regarding that work. Over and above the sending forth of men to barren fields and the wilderness, Home Missions now included Evangelism—the assistance of overworked preachers, the supplying of temporarily vacant pulpits, etc. It was of benefit to the pastors of large churches to visit and labor in other congregations occasionally, but the Synod ought to have stated Evangelists for this work—men at all times ready to heed the Macedonian cry, "Come over and help us," in protracted meetings and great revivals, where the field is too "white unto the harvest" for any one laborer.

In Foreign Missions there was much yet to do before the Church had fully performed its duty. The speaker could not forbear bowing his head in shame as he listened to an aged missionary, who had labored for years in the great field of South America, narrate his going from Synod to Synod, pleading for twenty-two helpers in the Master's cause in Brazil, to succeed at last in obtaining two. Two men to work in Brazil, a country containing more square miles of territory than the whole United States, leaving out Alaska; a country teeming with all the products of the south temperate as well as those of the torrid zone—and yet where the people, calling and believing themselves christians, are priest-ridden and living in the densest religious ignorance and superstition! They know nothing of the Bible, and many of them are struck with amazement when told by our missionaries that for two hundred years or more we have had in this country this Book of Salvation and Eternal Life, of which they are utterly ignorant.

The speaker adverted to the fact that the Almighty was permitting vast wealth to accumulate in this country, while civilization was overturning all barriers, and laying bare the whole world to the influence of the Gospel. Were we doing all we ought, with our great means, to spread this Gospel? So far from that, unbelief and skepticism are invading our shores from the Old World, and it begins to look as if we would be called upon to defend the orthodoxy and purity of faith of our own altars.

The Synod decided to establish an orphanage at Charlotte, which is perhaps the best point for the purpose unless Fayetteville had been selected.

Said to be a Specific.

Mothers, cut this out and preserve it, though God grant you may never be called upon to test its efficacy. It is said to be a sovereign remedy for diphtheria, and was for years prescribed by the Inspector-General of Hospitals in India:

Take equal parts (say two table-spoonfuls) of turpentine and liquid tar; put into a tin pan or cup, and set fire to the mixture, taking care to have a large pan underneath as a safeguard against fire. A dense resinous smoke arises, making the room dark, and the patient seems to experience immediate relief; the choking and rattting stop; the patient falls into a slumber, and seems to inhale the smoke with pleasure; the fibrinous membrane soon becomes detached, and the patient coughs up microbes. These, if caught in a glass, may be seen to dissolve in the smoke. In the course of three days the patient is well on the road to recovery.

Patent Granted.

Mr. Chas. A. Holland, a former citizen of Fayetteville, and now residing at Maxton, has been granted a patent by the government for a lift pump, which is said to be an excellent invention.

ISSUES OF THE DAY.

"JUDGE MCRAE has been holding court in Pitt county. The Reflector speaks in complimentary terms of his charge to the grand jury and the manner in which he dispatches business. It reports him as being 'in favor of lettting the negroes emigrate if they desire, and thinks the country would be ultimately much better off as a result of their departure. This point was brought out in his remarks upon strife between labor and capital, strikes and labor troubles generally. He said that while emigration agents or others had no right to come among the people and induce laborers to leave parties with whom they were under contract, he thought a wholesome emigration of a certain class of citizens from our State would cause only a temporary inconvenience, and their places would soon be filled by much better citizens.'" JUDGE MACRAE, a distinguished citizen of this city, is one of the ablest Judges on the Superior Court bench, and his views on any question carrry with them great weight.

We notice that Hiram Lodge, No. 40, Raleigh, N. C., Ancient York Masons, has unanimously adopted resolutions strongly indorsing the character of Dr. Eugene Grissom. The members of the old Lodge declare:

"That we extend to our brother our sympathies on account of the ordeal through which he has successfully passed, and we declare our unswerving confidence in his individual, professional and masonic character."—Wilmington Messenger.

God save the mark, and "Hiram Lodge, No. 40, Raleigh, N. C., Ancient York Masons."

There was a capital communication in the News and Observer a few days ago, and a capital editorial accompanying it, upon a recently published North Carolina school history which is in high favor just now. This history treats the causes leading to the war from the Northern standpoint, and flippantly characterizes the great issue which has commanded the best thought of the greatest statesmen of America, as "the absurd doctrine of State's rights." The book makes Mr. Jefferson Davis responsible for the prolongation of the war, and treats the war question as we might expect to see it treated by a New Englander. If Southern children are to be taught that the late war was a rebellion, a traitorous conspiracy against the government of the United States, it were better that they should be taught it out of a book written at the North. They can be told at home that the view presented to them is that of a stranger and an enemy whose opinions are warped by the prejudice of location.—Statesville Landmark.

We regret exceedingly our oversight of the communication and editorial spoken of above, as we would have cheerfully given space to both in these columns, but regret and lament that there is a single tutor in North Carolina who would teach such a history. We cannot believe there is one; if so, he should be speedily shown the door and the toe of the school committee applied to his professional posterior. Teaching true history is not his calling, as such a history as called for in the above is no less a disgrace to the State than to its author.

Odd Fellows.

There will be a lodge of I. O. O. F. instituted at Red Springs on Tuesday evening, 22nd inst.; also one at Lumber Bridge on Wednesday evening, 23rd inst.

Odd Fellowship is on a "boom" in this jurisdiction, about 17 new lodges having been organized since the meeting of the Grand Lodge in this city in May last.

The Danger of Famine.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 16.—There is great danger that the famine among the farmers of Central Dakota last winter will repeat itself this year. Intelligence just received here from Miner county discloses the fact that a large number of farmers in that section are in destitute circumstances. Owing to drought, their crops were a total failure this season. In a letter addressed to parties in this city, J. Q. Severs, pastor of the Congregational church at Carthage, and E. J. Reeves, chairman of the county commissioners, say:

"Our people are now in pressing need of clothing for winter. There are scores of families who have not wheat, corn or vegetables, with scarcely half enough to feed their teams and one cow through the winter. They have nothing to sell, and no way to provide for the demands of a Dakota winter. They are disheartened and discouraged. What aid you can extend the poor in Miner county will be thankfully received."

A relief committee has been appointed to solicit aid, and many towns throughout the State are responding liberally to the call for assistance.

One of a Noted Gang.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16—Seven years ago two aged women named Former, who lived alone on a farm near Traders' Point, were murdered. They possessed property valued at several thousand dollars, which fell into the hands of relatives. The acquirement of the wealth was supposed to have been the motive that prompted the murder. Yesterday Mrs. W. H. Maubaum made a confession, corroborated by the testimony of others, in which she says that the murder was committed by her husband now confined in the State insane hospital. He admits it—says that he was also one of the Manhattan bank robbers.

Episcopal Convention.

New York, Oct., 15.—The House of Deputies of the general Episcopal Convention convened this morning at St. George's church with a large attendance. The chief business of the day was the consideration of the prayer-book, after the victory won by the revisory party yesterday. Immediately after the reading of the minutes, the committee to whom was referred the memorial on aged and disabled clergy reported. The committee decided that the fund for the relief of widows, orphans of deceased clergy, and the aged and infirm should be commended to the attention of the church.

Half a Hundred Lives Lost.

London, Oct., 16.—An explosion occurred in the Bentilee Colliery at Longton, county of Stafford, at an early hour this morning. Seventy miners were in the pit at the time of the accident, only eleven of whom are alive. The pit was completely wrecked, and the task of getting out the buried miners will be great. A band of volunteers is now engaged in making exploration for the recovery of the bodies.

Fifty bodies of dead miners have been recovered already.

THE GRADED SCHOOL.

The Fall Session—Full Departments and Good Attendance.

As the OBSERVER considers time and labor always well expended in the promotion of any of the interests of the community—and certainly not least the educational interests—a reporter availed himself of the courteous invitation of Prof. B. C. McIver, and made visits some few days since to the Graded School on Haymount.

Alesson in rhetoric, with an exercise on the paragraph, was occupying the Superintendent's 1st grade; and, supplemental of this, Prof. McIver read to the class a magazine selection, from which material they were subsequently to fill out an article on the same subject in their own language and method of expression. The exercise impressed us a very useful one, and the bright, intelligent faces of the members of the class gave guarantee that the task would be well performed. The 1st grade had that day an attendance of .87.

Mr. Edwin McKethan's pupils were devoting their time to mastering the difficulties of punctuation, and we were much gratified both with the excellent care and method evinced by the teacher and the proficiency of the scholars. This grade showed an average of .86 in attendance.

Geography claimed the duties of the hour in the grade presided over by Mrs. Lanneau, of whose teaching it would be superfluous for us to write a word. She is thorough, pains-taking and most efficient. This grade's attendance was .89.

A perfect briar-patch in geography had been reached in Miss Rose's room—a sort of metaphysical dissertation on government—but the young folks battled boyfully and girlfully with it, and in a reading lesson the instructress and her flock came out with all the honors. The average was .83 in this grade.

Miss Matthews has a large room, comprising between 60 and 70 children, from the chubby little "tot" whose curly head barely peeps over the desk on up—imposing a herculean task upon the shoulders of the young lady, to which she addresses herself with unflagging fidelity, zeal and capacity. The object lesson and reading were very creditable—average attendance, .79.

Arithmetic was going on in Miss Taylor's excellently-conducted room; and, while the answers of the boys were bright and quick, the proficiency of the girls knocked "galley west" the theory that "the female head can't take in figures." In this grade the attendance was .90.

Miss Moore was giving instruction to her pupils in the proper emphasis in reading—an exercise which showed well for the vigilant care of the teacher and the close study of those under her charge. Attendance, .86.

Mr. Pope was testing the orthographical proficiency of his pupils—an exercise in which, with one or two exceptions, they acquitted themselves well. Attendance, .87.

Gildersleeve's Latin Lessons were exercising the minds of Miss Haigh's boys and girls, and we spent some time pleasantly with the capable teacher and her scholars. They are being taught the English pronunciation of Latin—the pronunciation in which their grandfathers and fathers were grounded in the same building and the same room. Prof. McIver intends elevating the Latin standard, adopting Virgil's Æneid in the 1st and putting Cæsar's Commentaries in the 2nd grade. Miss Haigh's was the "banner" room that day, every pupil on the rolls being present.

Prof. McIver is an advanced thinker in matters of instruction—an educator in the generic Latin signification of that word—and the excellent deportment of the young people speaks well for his discipline. We append the Superintendent's

SCHOOL REPORT.

Herewith I transmit my report for the first school month of the present session:
Attendance—average, .88.
Tardiness—average, .06.

In placing pupils on the "Roll of Honor," due regard is paid to scholarship, attendance and deportment. The following is the ROLL OF HONOR.

Girls—Mamie Haigh, Annie Jessup, Maggie Moore, Eliza Williams, Georgie Worth, Ethel Fisher, Mary Lamb, Sallie Moore, Urbie Myrover, Bertha Melvin, Janie McKethan, Virginia Ward, Eva Allen, Jennie Ingram, Laura Schlossberg, Katie Warwick, Prudence Cain, Pauline Cole, May Daingerfield, Stella Petteway, Mary Fuller Robeson, Nina Atkinson, Katie Brindle, Entamond Maultsby, Luola Moore, Ettie Clark, Nannie Kinlaw.

Boys—Robt. McGeachey, Archie Sykes, Haigh Daingerfield, George Rose, Eugene Sykes, Roy McDuffie, John Schlossberg, Hoagland Davis, Charlie Rose, Verner Moore, Walter Cain, Roy Lee, Thomas Wright, Herman Atkinson, Paul Watson.

I have placed in this report the attendance for a purpose, nor can I pass it over without a word. Absence and tardiness destroy the mental training, discipline and close application necessary to progress. This is true, whether or not there be a sufficient cause. Parents are earnestly requested to give us their aid in suppressing these fatal vices.

B. C. MCIVER, Sup't.

Manchester Cullings.

[Reported for the Observer.]

Mrs. R. S. West has been very ill; she is such a patient sufferer, and truly a beautiful old lady—esteemed by all, and loved by the young folk.

Mr. Steinhilper went to New Berne last week, returning Wednesday. "Logs at Morrison's bridge" are his grievous annoyances now.

Mr. F. P. Stewart and others came down, prepared to put the new siding in Monday; the absence of the "chief boss" delayed them.

Miss Emma Murchison came out last week, and spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. W. J. McDiarmid.

Our worthy Baptist neighbors contemplate a pleasant time at the Association in Bladen County, this week.

The new planer for the "Star Lumber Company" has arrived. This company's mill is fast becoming first-class. The dam is solid, after unceasing effort of months, and is now a "thing of beauty."

Mr. J. F. Clarke has put up a turpentine still recently, with a capacity of twenty barrels. His business motto is: "Always stick, and you never will get stuck."

Mrs. M. McD. Williams spent Sunday here among her relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McDiarmid have closed their lovely home. Desolate walls are now silent sentinels of phantom associations and fond memories. Mrs. McDiarmid is an acquisition anywhere for her many good qualities—a cultured, refined lady. Our Church will miss her unutterably.

The C. F. & Y. V. water tank is getting a new coat of paint. Our Superintendent is the right man in the right place; things of smal importance receive their share of attention; nothing is ever neglected; all branches of business move on smoothly; employes respect him and serve with willing alacrity. But I am partial to this road and all connected with it.

Dame Hearsay reports other things. Your reporter is on the qui vive. Ora e sempre.

BON AMI.

ATTENTION, VETERANS.

There will be a meeting of the Cumberland County Confederate Veteran Association at the Town Hall in Fayetteville, on Saturday, November 2nd, at 12 M. The object of the meeting will be to arrange for a proper participation of the veteran corps in the coming Centennial celebration, and to provide for a grand reunion of ex-Confederate soldiers on the occasion.

A full attendance of all veteran soldiers is earnestly desired, whether your names have been enrolled or not. We desire to become thoroughly organized and officered so as to give our grand old chieftain and our visiting comrades a fitting reception.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATION, as they can not reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucus surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucus surface. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alterative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters. Sold at $1 per bottle at B. E. Sedberry's Drugstore.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at B. E. Sedberry's Drug Store as the giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free. Large size $1. Every bottle warranted.
